Product Manufacturing

- Items that we manufacture range from the simplest flat metal plate with a single hole to the complex larger assembly containing numerous components that have been punched, formed, machined, welded, sanded, plated, painted, ink-screened, installed with hardware, and mechanically assembled together using screws, rivets or weld.
- Most parts will also require additional operations including a finishing operation (either painting or plating) prior to packaging and shipment.

- F3 Sheetmetal prides itself not only for supplying the finished product to customer satisfaction but offering complete fabrication service expected of today's ever changing global market.
- What we produce is more than just the parts we ship, F3 Sheetmetal strives to excel with constant communication with our clients to ensure the end product satisfies them completely. Customer perception drives F3 Sheetmetal to deliver competitively priced and high quality products.
